DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

Claim 6 is objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c), as being of improper dependent form for failing to further limit the subject matter of a previous claim. Applicant is required to cancel the claim(s), or amend the claim(s) to place the claim(s) in proper dependent form, or rewrite the claim(s) in independent form.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

1. Claims 1-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Swartz et al. (U.S. Patent Publication 2003/0020629 A1).

Regarding claim 1, Swartz et al. discloses a system for product selection at a location comprising:

- a wearable wrist input/output unit (90), which reads on claimed "wearable mobile computer," hereinafter referenced as wearable mobile computer, with a memory and a processor (94). See paragraphs [0051 and 0085, FIGURES 3 and 8];

- bar code reader (92) in communication with the said wearable mobile computer (90). See paragraph [0085];
- a viewing and input component consisting of a member of the group:
 - a display integral with the wearable mobile computer. See FIGURE 5;
 - a tactile input device in communication with the wearable mobile computer. See paragraph [0104];
 - a display screen that is a touch screen in communication with the wearable mobile computer; and
 - combinations thereof;
- a speaker, which reads on claimed "audio output device," in communication with the said wearable mobile computer;
- an headset (192), which reads on claimed "audio input device," in communications with the wearable mobile computer. See paragraph [0094];
- text-to-speech software residing in the memory. See paragraph [0098];
- a voice recognition software residing in the memory. See paragraph [0099 and 0101];
- order filling applications software residing in the memory. See paragraph [0060];
- a printer in communications with the wearable mobile computer. See paragraph [0024];
- radio frequency identification (RFID) reader in communication with the wearable mobile computer. See paragraphs [0024 and 0017];

- wherein the wearable mobile computer is further adapted for communication between:
 - an order systems server (810). See FIGURE 7 and paragraphs [0022,0060 and 0063];
 - a user (802). See FIGURE 7
- wherein the order systems server is adapted for communication between the wearable mobile computer at least one base/data transfer station (804), which reads on claimed "external computer system." See paragraph [0062 and 0063].

Regarding claim 2, according to claim 1, Swartz et al. continues to disclose wherein the bar code reader is either wired or wireless. See paragraph [0023].

Regarding claim 3, according to claim 1, Swartz et al. continues to disclose wherein the wearable mobile computer is selected from the group: a handheld computer, a PDA, and a notepad computer. See paragraph [0093], specifically the last 4 sentences.

Regarding claim 4, according to claim 1, Swartz et al. continues to disclose wherein the display is a member of the group: LCD display, a plasma display, a monochrome display, and a colored display. See paragraph [0085].

Regarding claim 5, according to claim 1, Swartz et al. continues to disclose wherein the audio output device is a member of the group:

Art Unit: 2617

- a speaker disposed integrally with the wearable mobile computer, a headset with at least one earphone, and an external speaker. See paragraph [0094].

Regarding claim 6, according to claim 6, Swartz et al. continues to disclose wherein the audio output device is either wired or wireless. See FIGURE 7

Regarding claim 7, according to claim 1, Swartz et al. continues to disclose wherein the tactile input device is either wired or wireless. See paragraph [0024].

Regarding claim 8, according to claim 1, Swartz et al. continues to disclose wherein the tactile input device is a keyboard. See paragraph [0104].

Regarding claim 9 according to claim 1, Swartz et al. continues to disclose wherein the text-to-speech software is adapted to convert text to an audio output. See paragraph [0098].

Regarding claim 10, according to claim 1, Swartz et al. continues to disclose wherein the voice recognition software is adapted to convert an audio signal to text. See paragraph [0099 and 0101];

Art Unit: 2617

Regarding claim 11 according to claim 1, Swartz et al. continues to disclose wherein the order filling applications software is adapted to manage a process for selecting product. See paragraph [0060].

Regarding claim 12 according to claim 1, Swartz et al. continues to disclose wherein the radio frequency identification (RFID) reader is in wireless communication with the wearable mobile computer. See paragraphs [0024 and 0017];

Regarding claim 13 according to claim 1, Swartz et al. continues to disclose wherein the RFID reader is a wireless reader of radio frequency identification data. See paragraphs [0024 and 0017] and FIGURE 17;

Regarding claim 14 according to claim 1, Swartz et al. continues to disclose wherein the order systems server is selected from the group: a Personal Computer, a Unix-basedTM server, an NTTM server, a Windows-basedTM server, and a Linux based server. See FIGURE 7 and paragraph [0062].

Regarding claim 15 according to claim 1, Swartz et al. continues to disclose wherein the external computer system is selected from the group: a Personal Computer, a Unix-basedTM server, an NTTM server, a Windows-basedTM server, and a Linux based server. See FIGURE 7 and paragraph [0062].

Art Unit: 2617

Regarding claim 16 according to claim 1, Swartz et al. continues to disclose wherein the audio input device is a microphone. See FIGURE 17 and paragraph [0099].

Regarding claim 17 according to claim 1, Swartz et al. continues to disclose wherein the printer is in wired or wireless communications with the wearable mobile computer. See FIGURE 8 and paragraph [0085].

Regarding claim 18 according to claim 1, Swartz et al. continues to disclose wherein the word product can mean an object, item, case, containing piece of equipment and any other item that can be selected.

Regarding claim 19 according to claim 15, Swartz et al. continues to disclose wherein the external computer system is a member of the group: customer order system, a customer warehouse management system, loader system server, an inventory control system and combinations thereof. See FIGURE 7 and paragraphs [0022,0060 and 0063];

Regarding claim 20, according to claim 15, Swartz et al. continues to disclose wherein the external computer is wirelessly connected to the order systems server. See FIGURE 7 and paragraphs [0022,0060 and 0063];

Regarding claim 21 according to claim 14, Swartz et al. continues to disclose wherein the order systems server is wireless. See FIGURE 7 and paragraphs [0022,0060 and 0063];
